

Save Her

A Directory Of Service Providers
Violence Against Women and Girls (VAWG) in Imo State

ABOUT SAVE HER

Save Her is a directory of front-line service providers on violence against women and girls in Imo State compiled by Alliances for Africa (AfA) with support from the United Nations Trust Fund to end violence against women and girls (UNTF) under the EU-UN Spotlight Initiative.

Save Her was compiled in response to the increasing demand for justice, psychosocial support and essential services by the families of survivors, women, and girls in Imo State, who constantly face multiple forms of violence without any knowledge on where and how to seek redress. AfA remains at the fore front of breaking the culture of silence through a myriad of advocacy activities, school sensitization programmes, community awareness outreaches, and behavioural change communication tools. We have observed changes amongst women and girls, with respect to speaking out, which is evidenced by over 191 reports of VAWG documented by AfA in partnership with the Imo State Committee on Ending Violence Against Women and Girls, (ISCEVAWG). ISCEVAWG is a multisectoral committee instituted by AfA to improve survivors access to psychosocial support and essential services through effective collaboration and the provision of frontline services. With knowledge on reporting mechanisms provided in this publication, safeguarding and confidentiality of documentation, referral and case management of VAWG will remain viable and serve as a mechanism of accountability to all relevant stakeholders.

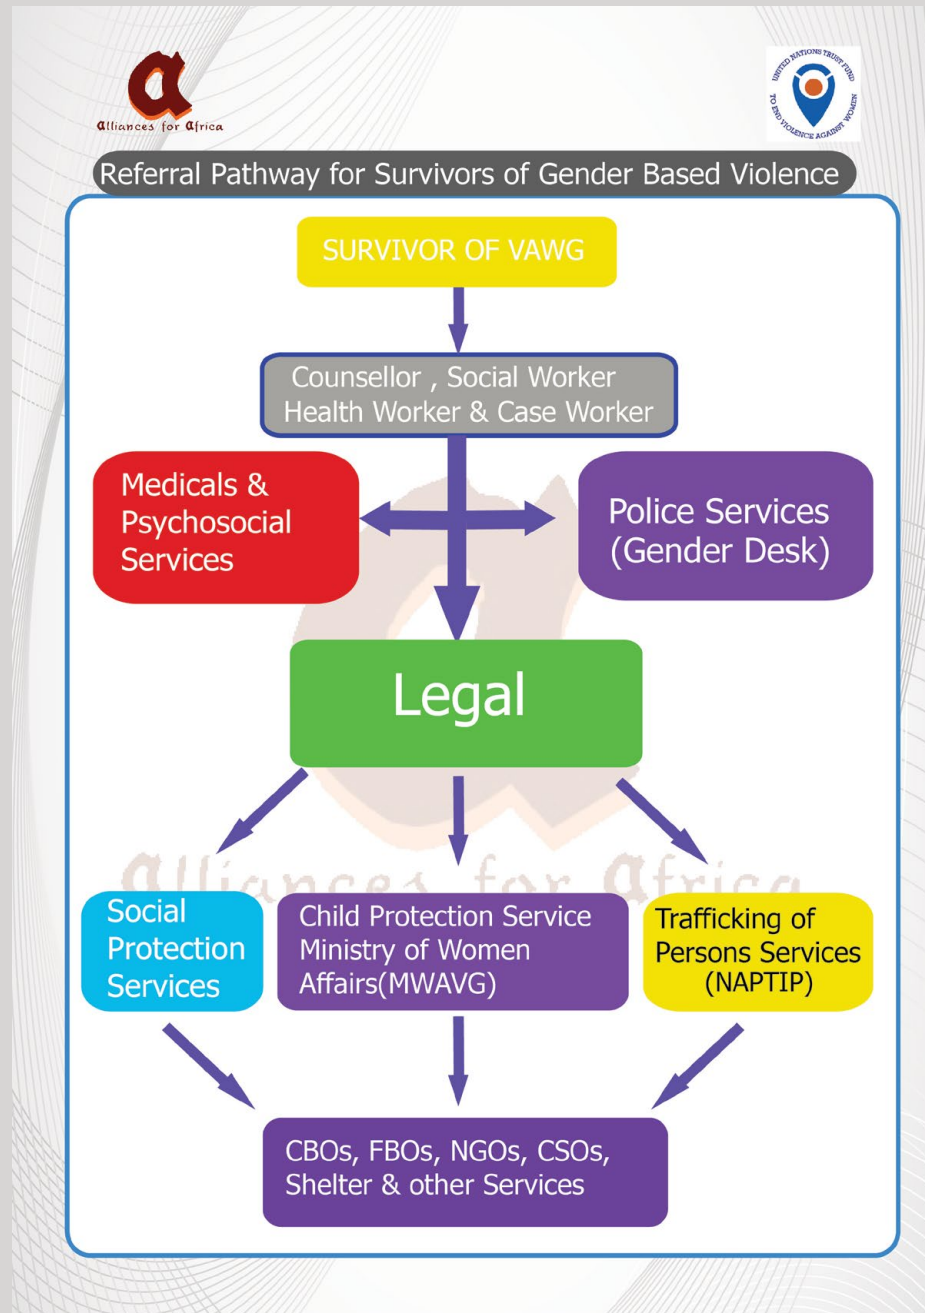

Covering the three senatorial zones in Imo State Owerri, Orlu and Okigwe, and including the Government Ministries, departments and agencies, CSOs, CBOs and FBOs providing frontline services, this directory provides information about organizations' name, address, location, contact person(s), helpline and service areas. We believe that Save Her in the hands of any woman or girl survivor of violence or their family members is a step in the right direction of justice.

METHODOLOGY

A two-step methodology was engaged to register verified organizations in the Directory. A google form was designed and sent to frontline service provider organizations in order to collate data of those organizations whose core mandate aligns with ending violence against women and girls. Once the data was obtained, organizations were contacted to specify their service areas and provide direct contact information including helplines, contact persons, for reporting and case referral. In finalizing the directory, verification of information was carried out and consent obtained for the referral of VAWG cases, and the inclusion of the information provided in the directory from these organizations which informed their inclusion in the directory.

THE IMO STATE REFERRAL PATHWAY

What do I do if I or Someone I know gets raped?

In the event of rape or any form of sexual violence, a survivor typically wants to have a bath for feeling of disgust and anguish. However, having a bath will eradicate every evidence that may help the survivor get justice. Given its importance, the following steps should be taken by a survivor or their carer if the survivor is a minor, for utmost safety and preservation of evidence for investigation.

1. Get to a safe place, do not take a bath or change your clothes. If the survivor is a minor, collect the clothes of the child ensuring you call a frontline service provider who will act as your Case Manager to help you.
2. Go to a General hospital or community health centre to perform a forensic test, get instant medical attention by being given post exposure-prophylaxis (PEP) to prevent STIs and unwanted pregnancy. Remember to get a medical report affirming the perpetration of the act which you need for any report to the police.

3. Proceed to the Gender desk officer of any police station near you to report the case and hand over a copy of your medical report in which the Doctor would have articulated the findings of his diagnosis. The police will only accept medical reports from government regulated hospitals.
4. Seek counselling services by calling an organization that provides specialist counselling services. Specialist counsellors are used for treating minors. The overall wellbeing and mental health of the survivors is critical at this stage and cannot be overlooked.
5. Stay in touch with your case manager and ensure to report or refer every call relating to the incident to your case manager to keep her updated on every step throughout the investigation period. The success of your case is largely dependent on how well you work with your case manager. This is not the time to negotiate with the families of the perpetrator.
